HunterOS

PARTNER INTRODUCTION / OCTOBER 2026

HUNTING / CAMPING / BACKPACKING

Plan the trip. Know your gear. Get out there.

HunterOS brings trip plans, personal equipment and packing checklists together. Built by Jacob Hericks, the app is in beta, with the core planning and packing experience being tested.

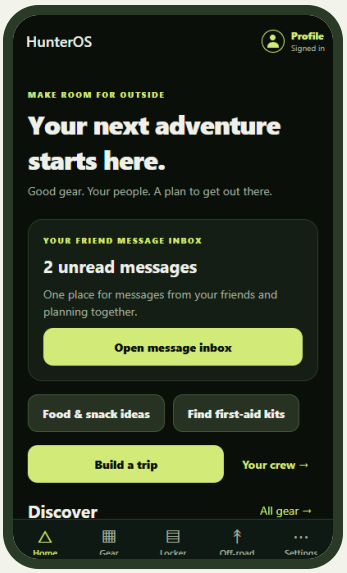

WHAT THE APP DOES TODAY

01 Turn an idea into a trip plan.
Set a trip type, region, duration and group size. Start with a checklist and adjust it to your own plans.

02 Put personal gear in one place.
Keep a reusable locker, equipment notes, quantities and known weights. See where information is still missing.

03 Track progress as you pack.
Mark items owned and packed. Review listed carry weight with missing values identified and worn gear excluded.

04 Connect plans to product information.
Review available details from product links before saving. Find friend messages in one inbox, food ideas and first-aid references. Missing product values stay visible.

HunterOS 0.7.0 (build 16).
Example web data; native layouts may vary.

> Current beta: iOS 0.7.0 (build 16) on TestFlight.
> Android: 0.7.0 (version code 14) (last confirmed closed beta). Public store availability, audience growth and vendor partnerships are still being developed. No audience size or sales results are claimed.

WHAT WE'D LIKE TO BUILD WITH OUTDOOR BRANDS

Accurate product content

Permission for official images, specifications and descriptions, plus a reliable source for updates.

Approved affiliate links

Useful links to your store, with agreed program terms, tracking, disclosures and commission.

Attribution beyond a click

Referral or promo codes, survey attribution and other assisted tracking your systems support.

A clear record of what earns credit. We distinguish analytics-only surveys, manually reviewed referrals and commission-linked tracking. A "How did you hear about us?" answer is never assumed to earn commission.

Let's find the right fit.
